

You are invited to a 2.5 day intensive leadership workshop on building our capacity to lead meaningful engagement at all levels of our work. To meet the demands facing us we must access the diversity of expertise in our school communities and distribute the leadership across our system.

What can I do to meaningfully and effectively lead in the midst of change?

How could greater engagement enhance our positive impact on the critical issues facing CCRSB?

CCRSB is addressing several critical issues impacting student achievement, including identified achievement gaps, Long Range Outlook, and facilities considerations. We know we can only make effective progress on these issues by engaging with those who are impacted. This training will build on the restorative approaches being applied in our board with a focus on the inner and outer work needed to lead engagement-based change.

We will be learning a set of methods, beliefs, and mental models developed and applied globally to support engagement and participation. Come prepared to question your assumptions, expand your ideas, and experience new processes that will allow you to take action on the challenges and opportunities in our schools and communities.
